At Yetton & Yetton, we specialise in designing travel advertisements that do more than sell a destination – they spark curiosity, emotion and the irresistible urge to explore. With a deep understanding of what drives readers of National Geographic Traveller, we create visually striking, story-led ads that connect with an audience hungry for authentic experiences and stunning escapes.

Our work has promoted world-class destinations such as Jersey, New Zealand, Saudi Arabia and Australia, blending compelling imagery with thoughtful, well-crafted messaging. We've also helped showcase unique hotels and resorts across Europe, including Chalet Falk, Domya Apartments in Milan, Sir Anthony in Tenerife, Luxury Hotel Goldener Berg, Pomâlo in Croatia, Hotel Badia Hill and Hotel Lago di Braies in the Dolomites, Ruffino 1877 in Florence, and Monkstadt 1745 on the Isle of Skye. Each design is tailored to the location's distinct personality – whether it's alpine charm, coastal luxury or historic character – while always aligning with the publication's tone and format. Our goal is to make every advert a mini escape, drawing readers in with a sense of place, beauty and possibility. At Yetton & Yetton, we turn destinations into dreams, and ads into adventures.

THE WONDERFUL STORY OF HOTEL PRAGSER WILDESEE

A hotelier wants to ease his wife's homesickness & buys a lake for her in 1856. The Pragser Wildsee is a love pledge done for Emma Hellenstainer, who has been given the most beautiful lake in the Dolomites. From then, the innkeeper led noblemen, citizens, & Alpinists on excursions to her mountain lake. But it was not until 1899 that the family built the Grandhotel Pragser Wildsee directly on the shore. It is still the only accommodation on the lake & is situated in the stunning UNESCO World Heritage site of the Dolomites.

Hegra – A Living Landscape of Natural Heritage

Reconnecting people, wildlife and landscape at the heart of the Incense Road

For millennia, AlUla has been shaped by a close relationship between people and nature. Along the Incense Road, ancient cities such as Dadan and Hegra emerged in response to the land, its resources and seasonal rhythms, sustaining communities across generations. Rock art and archaeological evidence reveal how wildlife was closely observed and woven into daily life. Today, within the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Hegra, conservation and rewilding efforts are restoring this balance. Encounters with ostriches, gazelles and ibexes reconnect visitors with ancient perspectives, revealing Hegra not as a site of the past, but as a living landscape where natural and cultural heritage continue to thrive together.

Awaken Your Inner Teacher in the Heart of the Amazon Jungle

Immerse yourself in a 200-hour yoga teacher training at Moksha Yoga Amazónica, set amid the lush Amazon rainforest.

The training course begins with a heart-opening cacao ceremony and blends Vinyasa, Yin and Karma Yoga with pranayama, meditation, Vedic philosophy and Ayurvedic self-care routines. Days include two asana practices, detox cleansings and experiential excursions — a meditative canoe journey through wetlands and contemplative visits to waterfalls — deepening awareness through direct contact with nature.

An intimate group setting, experienced teachers, vegetarian/vegan meals and comfortable shared or private accommodation create space for genuine growth and reflection.

A quiet, integrative path to teaching yoga worldwide in one of the world's most biodiverse settings.

A NEW ERA OF KYOTO AESTHETICS

Kyoto's traditional crafts have a long history and practitioners have developed their own unique senses and sensitivities.

Hotel Okura Kyoto Okazaki Bettei's guiding mission – to embody "a new era of Kyoto aesthetics" – signifies a modern beauty created through progressive efforts and drawing on new possibilities while inheriting the spirit and techniques of the traditional crafts that have shaped Japanese culture.

Original works of art by members of the GO ON project team, whose productions have been exhibited around the world, are displayed in the hotel, incorporating new interpretations of Kyoto's traditions. All guests will enjoy having their sensibilities awakened through interaction with the refined handwork of the craftsmen.

The hotel is located near the historic Okazaki Betsuin Temple, overlooking the rich natural environment of the temple grounds, with the suites and some other rooms offering guests changing views of the seasonal scenery in its Japanese gardens.

Uzbekistan opens a gateway from the past to the future

A new symbol of the Islamic world will soon open in the heart of Tashkent. The Center for Islamic Civilization in Uzbekistan will become a bridge between eras, connecting the legacy of Islamic science and art with the challenges and aspirations of our time.

"This initiative by President Shavkat Mirziyoyev aims to preserve, study and disseminate our rich Islamic heritage, inspiring a new generation of scholars and thinkers," says center director Dr. Firdavs Abdukhalikov. The center will be not only a museum but also a vibrant international cultural and educational academy.

"Here one can feel the pulse of centuries-old aspirations — where religions were born, ideas of enlightenment collided and powerful empires were created."

The voices of AlUla

The Rawi guides who bring history to life

In AlUla, Saudi Arabia, sandstone canyons hold echoes of civilisations past, and storytelling becomes a bridge between people and place. The term Rawi, meaning storyteller in Arabic, was chosen to represent the value of skillfully sharing histories, traditions, and tales, passed down from one generation to the next. Today's Rawis are cultural interpreters, empowered through a unique partnership with UNESCO to engage with modern-day explorers. Their stories flow through palm-shaded oases, mudbrick towns, and ancient inscriptions, revealing a land still writing its story. Whether guiding travellers through the monumental tombs of the magnificent UNESCO World Heritage Site of Hegra or representing AlUla in Paris and Beijing, these Rawis connect worlds – transforming heritage interpretation into rich personal experiences and ensuring AlUla's timeless narratives continue to inspire global understanding.

Explore Saigon's creative soul at ANIMA, where contemporary art and quiet presence meet

In the heart of Ho Chi Minh City's creative district, ANIMA transforms a former downtown building into a calm, art-led retreat. Seven floors, curated by emerging Vietnamese artists, unfold as a vertical journey of colour, material and mood, each level offering its own gentle rhythm shaped by story and light. Raw textures, restored furnishings and soft imperfections preserve the character of the original structure, creating an atmosphere that feels both grounded and quietly alive. Designed for travellers seeking inspiration and a sense of quiet presence, ANIMA offers an intimate way to experience Saigon through its art, energy and understated warmth.

Brazil's most beautiful railway

In Brazil, one of the world's most beautiful railway journeys crosses the largest preserved area of Atlantic Rainforest on the planet. Built in the 1880s, the line descends from Curitiba through the Serra do Mar mountains to the sea – passing viaducts, tunnels, waterfalls and cloud forest.

Sacred Solace in the Amazon Jungle

Join a seven-day residential retreat at Moksha Yoga Amazónica in Moyobamba, surrounded by Amazon rainforest near the Mayo river. Practices include daily Vinyasa flows in the morning, Yin sessions at sunset, pranayama, meditation, and Ayurvedic self-care routines. Activities remain optional, allowing time for rest by the pool or exploration.

Included excursions feature a canoe journey through eco-reserve wetlands for wildlife observation and contemplation, or visits to nearby waterfalls. A cacao ceremony opens the week; an optional guided Ayahuasca experience closes it.

Vegetarian/vegan meals, comfortable rooms, small groups.

A space for quiet renewal amid biodiverse nature.
